Sidewalk Sale Judged Success By Merchants

Friday's Sidewalk Sale in downtown Holland was termed "exceptionally good" today by Morrie Tubergen, president of the Holland Downtown Merchants Association.

"The indications are that the sale was better this year than in past years," said Tubergen. He added that merchants appeared to be enthused by the turnout of shoppers.

Tubergen credited the over-cast skies and misty weather with helping send some shoppers from the lakes to the downtown sale. He said crowds held during the day and did not appear to thin in the afternoon as in past years.

Parking was not allowed along Eighth St. during the sale and a shuttle bus service was offered between the Civic Center Parking lot and the downtown area.

Ambassador Describes Wales Beauty

(Editor's note: this is the second letter received from Shirley Johnson, the community ambassador.)

Hello again from beautiful South Wales.

I've left my family on the north-east coast for a few days to go hosting with my other American friends.

I was sorry to leave my English family. My last few days there were packed with excitement. One day we spent in Edinburgh, Scotland. I got a first-hand look at the Scottish moors and the lovely heather. However, I think the high point of my family stay was my trip down into the coal mine. We went 1,000 feet below the surface of the mine. I brought up a piece of coal just to prove to all of you I actually made it.

But, back to the present. Our group is now located at a youth hostel called Tr'y-n-caeau (house in the fields). It's situated in the middle of the Brecon Beacons, several high mountains surrounding the countryside. Our first day we climbed up to the foothills about 1,800 feet. It's impossible for me to describe the view from there, it was truly overwhelming. It took three hours to climb to the top, not counting the numerous rest stops to admire the view or shoo away the flocks of sheep roaming about.

Today we went into the foothills again, but this time on horseback. Being a typical city girl, and after five hours on a Welsh pony trekking over the hills, you can imagine how I feel tonight. I ache in places I never knew existed!

Before reaching Tr'y-n-caeau, we spent two days in Wordsworth country. Tintern Abbey was our most impressive visit. As it frequently happens in England, it was raining at the time. But though the rain dampened our bodies, it enlivened our spirits. We followed a trail across the river behind the Abbey and later discovered we were lost on the mountain side. It was a bit frightening, but we still took time to read Wordsworth's "Lines Composed a Few Miles Above Tintern Abbey," as we found our way out.

These visits to youth hostels have provided numerous opportunities to meet young people

Vander Jagt's Prayer Proposal Runs Into Snag

WASHINGTON — U.S. Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, R-Mich., said today he and colleagues in the House are having difficulty in getting to the floor resolutions calling for an amendment which would permit voluntary participation in prayers in public schools.

Noting that the House of Representatives and the Senate open daily sessions with prayers, Vander Jagt, 9th District representative from Cadillac, said, "It is particularly incongruous for the Congress to enjoy such prayers while sanctioning their prevention in our schools."

He said "since the Supreme Court decision disallowing school prayers, many members of Congress have introduced resolutions calling for an amendment to the U.S. Constitution permitting voluntary participation in prayer in our schools. I have frequently indicated my support for such resolutions."

"Unfortunately, no such resolutions have been reported out of committee for House action."

Local Group Brings Dutch Atmosphere to Convention

Tulips, Dutch costumes and clicking "Klompers" were much in evidence at the Spanish Fiesta held at the International TOPS convention recently in Houston, Texas, the five delegates from Holland feeling that this was the proper way to let the more than 3,500 guests from the United States and Canada get a brief preview of Holland's famous festival.

The local group presented Mrs. Esther Manz, president and founder of TOPS Inc., with engraved wooden shoes donated by Peoples State Bank, the Eet Smakelijk cook book given by the Junior League, a Volendam hat and four tulips, one to represent each club in Holland. They also gave a planting of tulips to be sent and planted at the headquarters building in Milwaukee, Wis.

Donning the wooden shoes (and the pair of wool socks which the local group provided) Mrs. Manz did a few brush hops along with the Dutch misses.

A portable tape recorder carried music and The Mesdames Eleanor Brunzell, Marilyn Israels, Helen Maderom and June Sundin did a short version of the klompen dance on a carpeted stage. Later by request the group performed on a cement floor with the klomp of the wooden shoes resounding throughout the dance.

Conventioners agreed with Mrs. Manz that the Dutch presentation was one of the highlights of the convention entertainment.

Serving as International King was Frank Taglia of Skokie, Ill., who had a loss of 172 pounds. Queen Barbara Bertho of Morgan, Utah, lost 166 pounds.

The local group visited Houston, the NASA, saw the moon pebble, space capsules and toured the area of the astronauts' homes.

Also a highlight of their trip was a Bob Hope extravaganza in memory of Ed White, deceased astronaut, at the famous astro-dome which was filled to capacity with 46,898 persons.

All convention meetings were held in the Astro-Hall which is adjacent to the Astro-dome.

'Boeing, Boeing' Proves Hit at Red Barn Opening

"Boeing, Boeing" proved itself an entertaining play as it opened Monday night at the Red Barn Theatre.

The first act began slowly but by the end of the second scene things began to warm up and the cast had the audience in "stiches" throughout the second act.

The subject is pre-marital polygamy and the mastermind is Bernard, a Parisian bachelor portrayed by William Tost. Handling his role well, Tost plays the swank swinger whose paradise is shattered as his three fiancées unexpectedly make the scene simultaneously. Don Bonevich is just the man to play the role of Robert, Bernard's friend and the man who keeps things going smoothly for Bernard when the girls start showing up.

The three responsible for creating Bernard's malady are Janet, Jacqueline and Judith, all airline stewardesses. Janet, an American air hostess, is portrayed by Kathy Dyas. Making the American appear as a domineering women's rights candidate, Miss Dyas nonetheless comes on as a sweet lass when she so desires.

The second act is the funniest, thanks to the antics of Karen Timmer and Sharon Jensen, playing Jacquelin and Judith.

Always being in different rooms at different times yet never far apart, the two unsuspecting rivals were kept apart and oblivious of the impending pax-dimonium by the smooth talking and quick thinking of Robert.

Karen Timmer managed her part well as the slightly naive mistress who won out in the end by trapping Bernard into marriage although she had little to do with it. Judith won the hand of Robert in much the same manner but the acting came on a little too strongly. Playing the role of the passionate German, Miss Jensen was overbearing in her portrayal.

Dorothy Lee Tompkins was the maid and added some good comedy when things slowed down. Being hit the hardest by all the madcap confusion, she always appeared a bit harried and terribly confused by the ordeal.

LITTERBUGS, JUNK AND SIGNS

We have just read about some problems concerning litterbugs, junk and signs, in the last issue of Life Magazine. We wonder these problems could be solved for the benefit of all people.

We need to find the answers sooner or later because we will run out of space. We think this is just one of our many problems that need the help of our elected and appointed officials.

We have been told by many people who travel over the country that they find so many signs that they have quit counting. Some of them, they say, are on rented space so this is just another one of the problems that would need to be solved.

We think the problem is of an immediate nature as signs become larger and more frequent on our roads and highways and calls for prompt action.

The Fruit of Hate
Genesis 4:1-15
By C.P. Dame

The first parents sinned and their children followed in their footsteps and sinned. One sin leads to another. Sin spills over from one life to another life.

I. Sin ruins. God commanded the first couple to be fruitful and multiply and they obeyed. The words, "And Adam knew Eve," refer to the marriage act. The couple became parents. God told Eve that in sorrow she would bring forth children and this she experienced. After the birth of the first child Eve said, "I have gotten a man from the Lord" — the RSV says, "with the help of the Lord." Eve named her first child Cain, meaning "smith" and the second child Abel, meaning "breath" or "vapor." Some scholars say the boys were twins. They grew up and their parents taught them to work. Cain became a farmer, Abel a shepherd.

The first parents taught the children to worship. Cain "brought of the fruit of the ground, an offering unto the Lord" and Abel "brought of the firstlings of his flock and of the fat thereof." God had respect of the offering of Abel but not that of Cain. In Hebrews 11:4a we read, "By faith Abel offered to God a more acceptable sacrifice than Cain" why was it more acceptable? Abel had faith, Cain did not have it.

We are not told how Cain knew that his offering had been rejected. He got angry at God and became jealous of his brother. Sin got a foothold in Cain's heart and God warned him and told him to rule over it. God still warns sinners.

II. Hate is dangerous. Cain took Abel out in the open field and there killed him and committed the first murder. Many murders take place in the family circle. The family relationships which should bring happiness often lead to tragedy.

God showed concern by asking Cain about Abel. The question revealed God's authority. Cain lied to God and said that he was not his brother's keeper. One generation sows and another reaps. Adam excused himself, Cain lied — sin is a degenerating power: one sin leads to another and often to one that is worse.

III. A just God punishes sin. God told Cain that "the voice of thy brotherhood's blood crieth unto me from the ground," because he had been wronged. God pronounced a special curse upon Cain, the farmer, saying that "the ground would not yield a harvest for him and in addition that he would be a fugitive and a vagabond in the earth." The man who could not get along with his brother became a social outcast because the people rejected him.

Cain did not repent but he did complain about his punishment. God showed Cain mercy by placing a mark upon him for his protection. Anyone who would kill Cain would be punished sevenfold, to the extreme, for his disobedience to God.

Hate is dangerous and has painful consequences.

Taste Dutch Hospitality Before New Jersey Move

ENJOY HOLLAND HOSPITALITY — Visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Pelgrim at 1425 South Shore Dr., last week, were Mr. and Mrs. George A. Pelgrim Jr., and their twin daughters, Joey Malia, left, Mrs. Pelgrim, Lisa Lani and Mr. Pelgrim. The Junior Pelgrims were enroute to their new home in Boonton, N.J., and purchased wooden shoes for the girls as a souvenir of their visit in Holland. Mr. Pelgrim has been promoted to district sales manager for a steamship line.

Making their home in the United States for the first time since their marriage in Tokyo in 1965 are Mr. and Mrs. George A. Pelgrim Jr. and their twin daughters, Joey Malia and Lisa Lani, 3½ years old, who left by plane on Sunday for their new home in Boonton, N. J., after vacationing in Holland with Mr. and Mrs. George A. Pelgrim, 1425 South Shore Dr.

The Junior Pelgrim has been assigned to the New York office of the American President Lines as a promotion to District Sales Manager for New York and Ohio.

He joined the American President Lines in 1957 and after serving aboard ship and in the main office in San Francisco was promoted to the Honolulu, Hawaii office as freight agent; the Tokyo, Japan office as special representative and recently in the Singapore office as District Sales Manager for Southeast Asia.

The Pelgrims with their daughters visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Holman in Honolulu before coming to the States. She is the former Estherellen Holzman, better known as "Daisy."

While visiting in Holland, the Pelgrims attended the sidewalk spectacular in downtown Holland last Friday and purchased some wooden shoes for the girls. Joey Malia promptly stumbled in the wooden shoes and developed a nice, fat lip which is evident in the picture of the family.

The couple met while Pelgrim was serving in Hawaii and were married in Tokyo where the twins were also born. Except for the time spent at San Francisco State University, Mrs. Pelgrim has always lived in Hawaii, so setting up house-keeping in New Jersey will be a real challenge for her. They are looking forward to the change of the seasons which they have known only briefly when they visited here previously.

Admissions at the rate of $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children totalled $149,709.89. Commissions from sales of packaged grain, refreshments, souvenirs and other items at the concession house came to $16,472.62.

Total revenues of $166,182.51 were offset by total expenses, including operating expenses and financing obligations, of $159,602.01, leaving a net profit of $6,580.50.

The report was prepared by City Auditor John Fonger and presented to Windmill Island Committee members at a meeting in the Hotel Warm Friend last week.

Fonger called attention to several major expense items that are necessary obligations during these early years of the park development.

The principal on the revenue bond obligation, amounting originally to $450,000, has been reduced by $60,000, including $20,000 paid for the fiscal year ending last June 30. This leaves an outstanding balance of $390,000. Interest payments of $16,850.10 also were made for the fiscal year.

In addition, $28,000 of Windmill Island income was placed in reserve funds required by the revenue bond ordinance. And finally, Fonger pointed out that an interest payment of $2,550.00 was made on funds borrowed from the city's capital improvement fund.

These four items totalled $67,105.10. Such expenses will not be part of the Windmill Island operation once the park has progressed beyond these initial development years, it was pointed out.

Attendance for the year ending June 30 was 109,687. This figure will be exceeded in the current year if the present rate of visiting is maintained, according to Jaap de Blecourt, director of Windmill Island.

Further discussion at the meeting centered around the goal of using the profit to further improve the attractions, available to visitors to the island.

Besides Fonger, and de Blecourt, those attending the meeting were Mayor Nelson Bosman, City Manager William Bopf, Henry Steffens, William J. Murdoch, Willard C. Wichers, Henry S. Maentz, Seymour Padnos, Roger Stroop and Howard Kammeraad.
